Claims 1-24 and 36-50 have been examined.

An examiner's amendment to the record appears below. Should the changes and/or additions be unacceptable to applicant, an amendment may be filed as provided by 37 CFR 1.312. To ensure consideration of such an amendment, it MUST be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee.

Authorization for this examiner's amendment was given in a telephone interview with attorney Robert Crawford on October 25, 2004.

The application has been amended as follows: Claims 51-58 are hereby cancelled without prejudice or disclaimer.

Drawings

New corrected drawings in compliance with 37 CFR 1.121(d) are required in this application because the application is now allowed, and the application was originally filed with informal drawings. Applicant is advised to employ the services of a competent patent draftsman outside the Office, as the U.S. Patent and Trademark Office no longer prepares new drawings. The corrected drawings are required in reply to the Office action to avoid abandonment of the application.

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 1-2 and 4-12 are allowed.

Claims 13-24 are allowed.

Claims 36-42 are allowed.

Claims 43-50 are allowed.

The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance: The closest prior art of record, Fay (U.S. Patent 5,983,201), discloses a method for previewing an accessory to be worn by a person, the method comprising: providing a first image to an input device at a first location, the first image including at least a portion of a person (Abstract); transmitting data of the first image to a server computer at a second location (Abstract); selecting a second image from an electronic database of images on or accessible to the computer at the second location, the second image comprising an image of an accessory to be worn on the portion of the person in the first image (Abstract); generating data of a composite image from the data of the first image and data of the second image with computer at the second location, the composite image including the accessory worn on the portion of the person (Abstract); and displaying the composite image on an output device at the first location (Abstract; column 6, lines 4-33; the output device is inherent from what the customer is described as doing).

However, Fay does not disclose that the server computer is linked to different accessory-provider computer sites respectively having different accessories for viewing. Dias et al. (U.S. Patent 6,170,017) teach a server computer linked to different merchandise-provider computer sites respectively having different items of merchandise available for information and for purchase (column 1, line 56, through column 2, line 32). However, Dias (or other similar prior art regarding cybermalls, etc.) only suggests modifying Fay by placing Fay's remote electronic store in a virtual mall having other virtual stores, but does not adequately suggest linking the server computer to different accessory-provider computer sites.

(The foregoing was written with particular reference to claim 1, but claims 13, 36, and 43 are allowable on closely parallel grounds.)

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."

Claim 3 is allowed.

The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance: The closest prior art of record, Fay (U.S. Patent 5,983,201), discloses a method for previewing a pair of sunglasses or other accessory to be worn by a person, the method comprising: providing a first image to an input device at a first location, the first image including at least a portion of a person (Abstract); transmitting data of the first image to a computer at a second location (Abstract); selecting a second image from an electronic database of images on or accessible to the computer at the second location, the second image comprising an image of an accessory to be worn on the portion of the person in the first image (Abstract), where the accessory can be sunglasses (column 2, lines 50-60; column 8, lines 38-39); generating data of a composite image from the data of the first image and data of the second image with the computer at the second location, the composite image including the accessory worn on the portion of the person (Abstract); and displaying the composite image on an output device at the first location (Abstract; column 6, lines 4-33; the output device is inherent from what the customer is described as doing). Fay does not expressly disclose that the computer at the second location is a server computer, but it can be considered as such based on its described functions, and in any event, client-server architecture is well known. Fay does not disclose that the method further comprises displaying a shaded image, wherein a shade of the shaded image corresponds to a shade seen by a person wearing the pair of sunglasses. Various prior art exists regarding shaded images (for example, Deering et al., U.S. Patent 6,417,861, column 1, line 63, through column 2, line 9), but no prior art of record discloses, teaches, or reasonably suggests this limitation.

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."
